

Microsoft Fabric product, experience, and item icons

Helping our customers design and architect new solutions is core to the Microsoft Fabric team's mission. Architecture diagrams like those included in our guidance can help communicate design decisions and the relationships between components of a given workload. On this page you will find an official collection of Microsoft Fabric icons to help you build a custom architecture diagram for your next solution.

Do's

- Use the icons to illustrate how products can work together.
- In diagrams, we recommend including the product name somewhere close to the icon.
- Use the icons as they appear within the product.

Don'ts

- Don't crop, flip or rotate icons.
- Don't distort or change icon shape in any way.
- Don't use Microsoft product icons to represent your product or service.

Terms

Microsoft permits the use of these icons in architectural diagrams, training materials, or documentation. You may copy, distribute, and display the icons only for the permitted use unless granted explicit permission by Microsoft. Microsoft reserves all other rights.
